CAN YOU GUESS.

Here's a Chance to Make
Ten Dollars Easy.

All You Have to Do Is to Pick the Winners in the Coming Primary.

Just for the interest attached to a guessing contest and to put a little more interest into the coming campaign for County officers. This News will give its readers a chance to make ten dollars and have a little fun at guessing on the side.

To the person making the first nearest correct guess of the winners in the Democratic Primary Election which will be held in this county on Saturday, June 1st, 1901, The News will present a ten dollar gold piece. The conditions of the contest are simple. Old subscribers and new subscribers who pay $2 on their subscriptions will each be entitled to a guess, and to as many guesses as they pay year's subscription. If no one guesses correctly, the first one who guesses the closest to all the winners will receive the ten dollars.

You intend to pay your subscription anyway, and you may as well pay before the first day of June and have a chance of getting your money back, besides gaining the distinction of knowing more about the political situation than your neighbors.

Each guess will be registered when received as to the exact hour and minute. No one will be permitted to see how any one else has guessed. In guessing only the offices on the ballot are to be considered.

PECULIAR CIRCUMSTANCES.

Two Wives Each Want to Qualify as Administrator of Dead
Husband's Estate.

The present term of Circuit Court now in session has a case of more than ordinary interest before it. On the 4th day of April, 1889, Oscar H. Lawless and Mamie C. Tume were married in Nicholas county, Kentucky. They lived together some time as man and wife, and a child was born this union which is now ten years of age.

About five years ago Lawless and his wife had a misunderstanding of some kind and he came to Bourbon. After residing in this county a few years, on the 20th of January, 1900, he married Miss Lala Hipshire, daughter of Lee Hipshire, living just over the Fayette county line near Loradale. Wife No. 1, who is still residing in Nicholas county, through her attorney, Col. Tom Owens, of Carlisle, filed a suit for divorce in the Bourbon Circuit Court, but Lawless died a day or two before the Sheriff called at his house to serve the summons.

Of course, that put a stop to the divorce proceeding, and Mrs. Lawless No. 1 came in and wanted to qualify as Administratrix of her deceased husband's estate. After some delay, Mrs. Lawless No. 1 had the Bourbon County Court to appoint Harmon Stitt Administrator of the Lawless estate. Mr. Stitt was unable to determine which was the legal wife. He therefore filed a petition in the Circuit Court, stating that Lawless was married to Miss Tume in 1889 and to Miss Hipshire in 1900, but that he hadn't knowledge or information sufficient to state whether or not Lawless had ever been divorced from wife No. 1, and he made both of the wives parties-defendants to the action.

Wife No. 1 came forward and set up a claim for herself and daughter to all of the property left by her husband, and Mrs. Lawless No. 2 filed an answer, stating that she and Lawless were married in Covington, and that she did not know that he had ever been married, and asked the Court to require wife No. 1 to say whether or not a divorce had ever been granted or if she had ever been served with a summons citing her to answer to a divorce proceeding.

In the certificate filed by wife No. 1 the name of the deceased appears as "Lawless," while in the certificate filed by wife No. 2 the name appears "Lalls."

Wife No. 1 follows the name as written in her certificate, and wife No. 2 follows the name as written in her certificate, except that she spells it "Lalls" instead of one middle L. Yet, that both women had the same husband there is no doubt.

Relatives of wife No. 1, from Nicholas county were with Lawless during his last sickness, had known him all his life and testify that there is no mistake about it. Wife No. 2 admits that Lalls, Lollis and Lawless are all one and the same person, but she simply wants wife No. 1 to say whether or not he had obtained a divorce. She seems confident that her husband was a divorced man, but is unable to find any record of the proceeding either in Bourbon or the Nicholas Courts.

A singular feature is that a man could come from an adjoining county and live within sixteen miles of the people among whom he was born and reared, marry again, and neither wife ever hear of the other.

Relatives of Mrs. Lawless No. 1, residing in the vicinity of Loradale knew that Lawless was married, and although they visited the old neighborhood frequently and had friends from home visit them, it seems that no word was ever carried from wife to the other. Both wife No. 1 and wife No. 2 are members of good families and are themselves above reproach.

STOCK AND STABLE.

STUDY OF VENTILATION OF INTEREST TO STOCKMEN.

Necessity of Cleanliness, Fresh Air and Sunlight to Produce the Best Results—System to be Used at Pan-American Exposition.

The Pan-American Exposition will prove to be of more genuine benefit to those interested in the proper care of live stock than any previous effort in this direction. Stable construction is a question that appeals with great force to every farmer who is anxious to secure good results. The question of expense is a great barrier to the proper building of this necessary. Unfortunately some of the early examples of good stables were built by men of large means, regardless of what the cost might be. As a result practical farmers were slow to be the matter up, as the idea of a properly constructed stable became at once associated with great expense.

One object of Mr. F. A. Converse, who has charge of the live stock and dairy products at the Exposition, in building a model stable at the Exposition is to counteract this erroneous impression.

A properly constructed stable is not necessarily an expensive one. Cleanliness, fresh air and sunlight, with a modulated temperature, may be obtained in a building of ordinary cheap construction if properly arranged.

A light, cheap framework covered with paper which is protected with a sheathing of very common boarding and covered with a good roof makes a very good start. This should stand on ground that is well drained and exposed to the sunlight, but protected from cold winds. The floor should be of cement and carefully designed to facilitate cleanliness in every particular. Double doors, fly screens and dark blinds should be provided and made to fit properly.

A system of ventilation should be provided that will ventilate. Anything will not do. By excluding the cold and the light ordinarily we also shut out the fresh air, without which no animal can thrive. Many stockmen are careful about the quality of the food, though careless about everything else in connection with the stable. In this manner they are protecting their stock in one direction while leaving them exposed in many others.

Stable air is devalitized by passing through the lungs, it is also being contaminated by chemical decomposition of the excrementum as well as the fumes arising from the fermentation of damp bedding, etc.

To thoroughly understand how to properly ventilate a stable it is necessary to study the circulation of air at changing temperatures, which is governed by fixed laws and may be easily understood. Warm air is lighter than cold air. Generally speaking, foul air is heavier than fresh pure air from the outside, even at the same temperature. Starting from this well known principle, ventilation should be arranged accordingly. Fresh air should be let in at the top and the foul air taken out at the bottom.

By experimenting we find if we smoke a cigar in the middle of a room the fresh air in, the other, the King system, draws the foul air out. As Mr. Converse prefers the latter, that is the system he will demonstrate at the Exposition.

It consists of an air stack with a hood, the opening of which is turned away from the direction from which the wind is blowing. To this main air pipe are attached feeders from different parts of the stable. These feeders have slide openings to admit and carry off the foul air from near the floor at the sides of the stable. Fresh air is admitted through a central opening in the roof.

As the draft that is created by the hooded stack is sufficient to draw the bottom air from the stable, fresh air must go down through the central opening to take its place, and a change of air is a certainty. To prevent the mistake from striking the animals too strong a shield is placed under the opening which assists in directing the flow of fresh air along the ceiling. In this manner it mixes with the warm air that naturally rises in the center of the stable, and all is intermingled and diffused.

With a good stable well ventilated and good feed intelligently fed the winter care of stock should be profitable as well as pleasant.

Epidemics have no bad effects on such stock, and a visit from the board of health has no unpleasant consequences for the owner.

PROFUSION OF LIGHT.

More Than Three Hundred Thousand Lamps at Pan-American.

It has been said that the Pan-American Exposition will be a Rainbow City by day and City of Light by night, and if this be true it should prove the most beautiful sight of its kind ever created for the delectation of the human vision.

Much has been written about the illuminations of the Exposition, but the public is scarcely aware of the magnitude of the scene which is to be created by the use of incandescent lights in such generous profusion about the main court of the Exposition and the buildings immediately surrounding it. When one says that 300,000 of these lights are to be used, the figures look large, but they are nevertheless true. Nor does this include all the lights that are to be used in the general illumination of the Exposition, for on the Midway several concessions, such as the Thompson Aerie Cycle, Streets of Mexico and some others will use as many as 2,000 lights each. In the buildings and about the border of the grounds will be arc lights, while incandescent lamps will also be used by many individual exhibitors. Thus the figures 300,000 will be considerably increased. The illumination of the Electric Tower is going to be not only astonishing and novel, but truly artistic.

Automobile Exhibit.
The automobile has won such favor that the construction of these vehicles has become one of the important new industries of the world. In any new and prominent field like this the United States, with its wealth of active inventive minds, is expected to take the lead. That this country does lead will be demonstrated by the exhibit made at the Pan-American Exposition.

TOWER ON THE PLAZA—PAN-AMERICAN EXPOSITION.

the smoke goes first to the ceiling, where it spreads in every direction until it reaches the side walls, when it will descend.

This would indicate that we should admit fresh air at or near the center of the ceiling and draw the foul air from the different sides of the room near the base. There are two systems in use in our best stables. One forces

An Instructive Exhibit.
On the street, in the stores, in dwellings, all about, there is evidence of the advancement of that wonderful force, electricity. Is it any wonder that people in all walks of life, of all classes, want to know about it? This is why the electrical exhibits of the Pan-American Exposition are destined to interest and instruct so many.

Heading This Way.

Mrs. Carrie Nation, the smashing crank, who at the present time is to hold the center of the freak stage, will make a lecturing tour of Kentucky. Her first lecture will likely be delivered in the Lexington opera house next week. Her manager asked for a date in Louisville at the auditorium and received the following pointed telegram from Manager Quill: "The Auditorium is not a freak museum."

There are a class of traveling managers throughout the country who take advantage of every sensational or scandalous incident to fust some participant in it before the public gaze behind the footlights. Manager Porter, of the Grand yesterday received the following letter, which illustrates to what extremes these people will go:

LOUISVILLE, KY., MARCH 20.
Mgr. Opera House, Paris, Ky.

Dear Sir: Can you book me for one night, April 9th? I have Miss Van Tassel starring in a sensational drama "The Christian Tragedy." This affair took place at Lexington last October, young Christian receiving a life sentence a week or so ago. You will readily see the sensationalism of the piece. I can give you plenty of newspaper stuff regarding the tragedy.

Now, if you can book me, what terms can you offer? Miss Van Tassel was the "woman in the case." With fair weather we ought to turn them away. Hoping an early reply, I am, etc.

He was informed that Paris had enough troubles of her own without exploiting any of Lexington's on the stage of her opera house.

Russia and England have both withdrawn their troops from the disputed Chinese territory, and left the question of ownership to be determined later.

Debo's Perfidy.

Miss Boyd, the crippled post-master at Centerville, recently removed to provide a place for a hungry Republican who did not need the small salary attached to the small office, has a letter from Senator Debo saying that he would have her retained. Yet with the perfidy characteristic of his class of bad-pole politicians, who have by accident or treachery combine secured positions far beyond their capacity or deserts, he violated his word, and either had or permitted the poor, crippled woman, who was dependent on the few dollars per year that the little office pays for the support of herself and young niece, turned out in the cold. There was no exercise for the change—she was competent and satisfactory to the patrons of the office and deserved and needed the place.

Altogether it is about the smallest and most contemptible exhibition of politics that has come the surface in many a day.—Cynthiana Times.

LOOK out for tornadoes, wind storms and cyclones. One thousand dollars insurance with T. Porter Smith will only cost you two dollars. (tf)

The work of the Peruchi Trio was excellent, they making the hit of the evening. The State Christian Endeavor convention which was to have been held at Cynthiana in May has been abandoned and no C. E. State convention will be held this year. The reason for the change is that the International C. E. convention will be held in Cincinnati in July and so many Endeavors will attend the convention it was thought that many would on this account forego the pleasure of attending the State Convention.

The many friends of Mr. J. J. Shaw, formerly of this city, will be pained to learn of a serious accident which befell him in Cincinnati recently. At his place of business an elevator shaft had carelessly been left open, and Mr. Shaw stepped into it, falling a distance of several feet and receiving severe injuries. The doctors are fearful of pneumonia, in which case his life would be despaired of.

The Kentucky Press Association through the Executive Committee will forward to President McKinley a petition for the pardon of Postmaster Bosley, of Paris, who was recently convicted in the United States Court on a technicality. It is on this technicality that the Association bases the hope that a pardon will be granted. The petition will be sent to Washington at once.—Maysville Ledger.

A. T. FORSYTH, Auctioneer.

WHILE on a business trip to Winchester last Wednesday, the editor of the News called on Mr. R. P. Dow, Jr., of the Dow-Haydon Grocery Company, and was shown through the establishment. The firm has an elegant and substantial three-story brick building, which is packed from cellar to roof with a stock which would do credit to a big city wholesale house. Joe Rion, of this city, is clerk for the firm. A peculiar feature of the business done by the firm is the immense sale of Jamaica Ginger and other extracts to residents of the mountain counties, where it is used in lieu of whisky, since the extreme activity of the Revenue officials has caused a discontinuance of the moonshine variety.

Stock and Crop.

The April Court Horse Show, promises to be the finest in years.

We call attention to the following list of stallions advertised in this issue of the News:

Stephon—J. W. and E. H. Ferguson Wiggins, 2d—James E. Clay.

Jay Bird—Bacon & Brennan.

Scarlet Wilkes—Bacon & Brennan.

Touton—Bacon & Brennan.

Fayette county's assessment for 1901 foots up $30,210,492.

The Texas hemp breaking machine, claimed by its inventor to do work in a satisfactory manner will be shown at the State Experimental Farm, at Lexington, next Wednesday.

Mt. Sterling Court.—About 1,500 cattle on the market, Monday, medium quality. Trade in the morning was rather slow, buyers' bidding prices were too high, says Southern Democrat.

In the afternoon some more were made and trade was no better. Best feed (hog) was sold at 4¢; yearlings selling at 4¢ to 5¢; hogs 3¢ to 4¢; cows 3¢ to 4¢; bulls 3¢; canners 1¢ to 2¢.

The highest price paid for a hind of new crop on the Louisville tracks this season in $17.75 per hundred pounds.

At a sale of jack stock at Danville 28 head sold at an average of $40 a head. The highest price was $110. The long ears and tails are returning to something like their pristine favor.

Letter From Dr. Roberts.

MONACO, Feb., 1901.

The most beautiful spot on the famous Riviera is without question Monaco, the Capital of the Miniature principality. With wild mountain scenery in the background and the blue waters of the Mediterranean in the foreground, between which is centered all that could be done by art and nature to bring this spot to its present state of loveliness. Its beautiful streets like marble, parks and gardens of superb beauty, glittering casinos, arched hotels, the olive, orange and lemon groves all tend to render this place an earthly paradise.

Here is the great modern resort of fashion and glided vice. Here gambling is strictly forbidden, but only a step away is the far famous Casino of Monte Carlo, which is situated on the hill across the small Bay of Monaco. Here it is said is concentrated more misery than any other place in this wide world. As you enter the Casino, how grand and luxuriant everything looks—glittering gold and flashing mirrors greet you at every turn. By presenting your card you are admitted to the gambling saloon. None of the citizens of Monaco are allowed to visit the Casino. Having entered the room we find the roulette tables, one on either side, passing into the Grand Salon we find four roulette tables. In the third saloon are two tables for Trente-Inarante. The three saloons form, as it were, one large one. The floors are of highly polished oak and the roof is beautifully decorated by polished wood and gilt.

Here are assembled hundreds of people, yet everything is perfectly quiet, except the croppers' voices as they calmly call out the result of the game and with this the click of gold; here you see old gray-haired men and fair young girls playing—now winning, now losing. It is a study to watch the faces of those seated there. Perhaps all their world's wealth at stake. If they win, life and misery is prolonged; if they lose, suicide is their reward. I talked with a young man who had been playing, off and on, for ten years, and he said once you have played at Monte Carlo you never quit. You may leave and cross the seas, but there is that strange fascination that brings you back.

He said that this was the experience of all who played. As the bank makes twenty million francs clear every year, it is easy to see who wins.

And the man who can "break the bank of Monte Carlo" does not live. The roulette tables are about three times as long as wide, and are divided into three divisions, the middle part for the bank and roulette, the two ends containing the spaces and numbers on which are placed the stakes of the players. The tables are covered by a green baize cloth, the spaces are numbered and are marked by white lines and figures. The two ends of the table are alike, and have the following chance, on any of which the players may place their stakes—zero and 36 number, red, black, pair, impair, passe, manque. In the center of the table is the roulette, worked on a pivot. In the roulette are thirty-six small compartments, marked alternately—red and black—and contain the zero and 36 numbers in white. The roulette is set in motion by one of the croupiers, who takes hold of one of the four bars and giving it a turn, the four bars being attached to the top of the pivot. As soon as the roulette is started the croupiers start a small ivory ball in the opposite direction to which the roulette is going. This ball continues running till the roulette slackens its pace, then the ball rolls into one of the small compartments and this decides the winning number, and other chances of the roulette.

CALL and leave your measure for Easter suits. The expert cutter of the Globe Tailoring Co. with 300 samples of piece goods will be here to take your measure, March 25th and 26th.

Paris Commercial Club.

The News earnestly urges every citizen of Paris and Bourbon county to do all in their power to advance the good work already inaugurated by the Paris Commercial Club. There is not a citizen of the town who will not benefit, more or less, by it. The building of electric railroads to connect us with our neighboring small towns will be of inestimable value. It will only require a small amount of inducement on the part of those having the matter in charge to induce men of capital to invest in the way of manufactures.

Paris has every facility in the way of water location, shipping facilities, etc., and all that is necessary is to bring it to the attention of those who have capital to invest. Come to the next meeting of the Commercial Club next Monday night, and do all in your power to start the boom which Paris should have had several years since only for the backwardness of its citizens.

Circuit Court.

Yesterday afternoon the Grand Jury presented their report to the Court and were formally discharged for the term. The list of indictments was unprecedented in the history of the Bourbon Circuit Court. A bunch of eighty-one was handed in mostly for gaming or running games of chance. Runners of slot machines will also come in for a little trouble. Commonwealth cases will be taken up on Tuesday morning.

STRAYED OR STOLEN.—Bay saddle mare about 15 hands high large grey spots in both flanks. Will pay for any information that will lead to her recovery.

L. B. LILLESTON at C. B. Mitchell's.

Marital suit.

Wednesday's Lexington Leader says: The parlor of the Phoenix Hotel at 12:30 this afternoon was the scene of a very pretty but quiet wedding, at which Rev. Mack Cullen, pastor of the Broadway Christian Church, officiated.

The groom is Mr. Charles Mitchell, 21-year-old thoroughbred, where they will go in training. Mr. Woodford Clay will have charge of this interesting bunch.

Stops the Cough and Works Off the Cold.

City Gives $100 to Cloverport.

Mayor Perry yesterday received a communication from the relief committee of the city of Cloverport, which was recently almost completely destroyed by fire, requesting financial aid. Every business house in the city except one was destroyed, and the merchants lost everything. The communication stated that they had enough on hand to feed the destitute for only a short time, and that they were compelled to appeal to the outside world for aid.

The city decided to contribute one hundred dollars, and that amount was sent immediately.

Rare Bargains in Canned Goods.

L. Saoshin & Co., announce that on account of being overstocked with the following articles, they have decided to close them out at ruinous prices. In the celebrated "Nabob" brand of canned goods, the regular price of which is 30 cents per can, they are offering them at these prices:

White Cherries, 15 cents per can. Egg Plums, 10 cents per can. Green Gage Plums, 10 cents per can. Bartlett Pears, 17 cents per can.

In Pears:

Honey Suckle Brand, 10c. worth 15c. Gibbs' Extra Small, 11c. worth 15c. Rowe's Early June, 7½c. worth 10c. Tomatoes, 7½c. worth 10c.

Serious Accident.

Arthur A. Crick, foreman of the Cumberland Telephone Company, in this city, met with an accident yesterday which will incapacitate him for work for several weeks. While spring-tending the pulling down of some old poles on the streets, a large 45 foot pole fell on him breaking the crest of his hip bone. He was attended by Drs. Keeney and Sweeney, and is doing as well as could be expected, although suffering great pain.

Mrs. RACHAEL ASHBROOK yesterday purchased the W. L. Davis residence on High street for $3,500.

"Private John Allen"

One of the prettiest and most completely mounted plays ever produced at the Grand Opera House in this city, was C. B. Hauford's production of "Private John Allen" last Tuesday night. It was presented before a small audience, but one which made up for lack of numbers by their enthusiasm. At the end of the third act Mr. Hauford received four curtain calls, something unprecedented in the history of the house. It was unanimously voted by those present to be the best play of the season.

To The Public.

If you wish your suit cleaned, pressed in a true workmanship manner, and bring it to me. I have been in the business long enough in Paris to have my reputation as a workman thoroughly established. I will clean, scour and press your suits and guarantee the job, for $1.50, and no one can do it cheaper and do it right. Just think this over and see if I am not right. Your trade solicited.

CHAS. L. HUKILL.

The annual Congress of the Disciples, beginning next Tuesday at Lexington will continue three days.

Are You Rubber Tired?

If not, why not? There are a thousand reasons why you should have your vehicles rubber tired. We will not attempt to enumerate them, but will say we have the latest, up-to-date patent for putting on Hartford and Goodyear 2-wire Rubber Tires while you wait. Suppose you investigate it.
